

To Whom it may concern regarding Casey Epps, Class of 2005:

Behind Casey's junior leadership, the 2003 Upper Arlington varsity

Volleyball team won 15 games and finished with a state tournament sectional title. Casey was central Ohio's "prudential playmaker"; she included all of her teammates in the offensive effort, so everyone got a piece of the rock. She has an innate ability to pass her competitive will on to her teammates, giving them the confidence and determination to win. She's the rare type of athlete that says, "Coach, let's get better," rather than "Coach, make me better."

Among all-time leaders in sets in school history, Casey always works to make every play better. Through her setting, serving and passing consistency, she was considered an all-around valuable player by her teammates and coaches. She recognizes the capabilities of her offense, reads the opposition, and makes decisions accordingly.

Casey has the discipline, drive, and energy to succeed. She would be a terrific addition to any mid to high-major Division II collegiate volleyball program.
